DECLARATION

Date: 21st April 2025

To Whom It May Concern,

I, Fenil Shah, Organizer and official Licensee of TEDxThaltej Youth, hereby declare that the management system implemented for the TEDxThaltej Youth event is designed, documented, and executed in alignment with the requirements of the following international standards:

- ISO 9001:2015 – Quality Management Systems
- ISO 20121:2024 – Event Sustainability Management Systems

TEDxThaltej Youth is a not-for-profit, volunteer-led event organized under an official TED license. All event-related processes, including speaker curation, volunteer coordination, stakeholder engagement, production planning, sustainability measures, and audience experience management, are handled through a structured management system built to deliver both quality and sustainability.

We have developed and applied a Quality Policy, a Sustainability Policy, and a clearly defined Scope Statement for this management system. The content delivered during the event is governed by a 22-page internal speaker evaluation guideline, ensuring that every talk aligns with TEDx's content rules and our own ethical and educational goals. We maintain documented processes for team responsibilities, event planning, vendor selection, internal reviews, and continuous improvement.

In addition, all materials used for the event are sourced from local vendors and evaluated for quality and environmental compliance. Recyclable and reusable materials are prioritized, and digital communication methods are used wherever possible to reduce paper waste and energy usage.

All documents submitted as part of the certification process are accurate, complete, and reflect the actual practices implemented for TEDxThaltej Youth. I confirm that I am responsible for overseeing this management system and ensuring its ongoing application and improvement across all future editions of the event.

Sincerely,

Fenil Shah
