

TED^x Thaltej Youth

x = independently organized TED event

No-Refund Policy

All payments made to TEDxThaltej Youth, including but not limited to registration fees, ticket bookings, merchandise purchases, or participation charges, are non-refundable under all circumstances.

As a not-for-profit, independently organized TEDx event, every financial contribution received is directly allocated towards event planning, logistics, speaker arrangements, sustainability efforts, and production commitments. These costs are incurred well in advance to ensure a seamless and high-quality experience for all attendees and participants.

By completing any transaction with TEDxThaltej Youth, the participant agrees and understands that they are securing a limited seat or access point to an experience that is curated, designed, and resourced specifically in anticipation of their involvement. We do not offer cancellations, partial refunds, or transfer of payments under any condition, including absence, change of plans, or event-day circumstances.

In the unlikely event that TEDxThaltej Youth is postponed or rescheduled, registered attendees will be notified in advance and offered the opportunity to attend the rescheduled edition. However, refunds will not be issued in such cases.

This policy is final and applies to all stakeholders. For questions, contact:
finance@tedxthaltejyouth.in